CARING FOR MESH SHOWER CURTAINS

The surface tension of the aluminum coil fabric attracts water and encourages it to flow downward. A light sprinkling may make it's way to the floor, but it is no more than what would be there by stepping out of the shower. A regular or teak bath mat is all that is needed.

Smaller showers, tubs, and certain shower heads may require the use of a shower liner.

To clean your mesh shower curtain, simply prepare a solution of warm water and mild soap or detergent. Using a soft cloth, wipe down the coiled fabric, then rinse with clean warm water.

Never use commercial cleaning products on your woven shower curtain divider! The ingredients found in some of these products can be rather harsh and may strip the lacquer or discolor the wire.
